Renewing Our Built-In Features

Along one branch of my family tree I am a 3rd generation US-born citizen. My great grandparents on my Mom's side emigrated from Prussia to Wisconsin. Green Lake, Fond du Lac, Milwaukee, and Ripon were among the Wisconsin places I remember hearing about growing up. I am writing this article at the end of my spiritual renewal leave, an annual leave available to pastors.

This year we were in Wisconsin Dells at a resort we have visited in the past. Beverly and I, and our youngest daughter and her husband had the weekend together and I stayed through last Friday. On Saturday, we toured Taliesin ("shining brow" in Welsh), the home and estate of Frank Lloyd Wright near Spring Green, Wisconsin. I bought the book, Frank Lloyd Wright and His Manner of Thought by Jerome Klinkowitz, and Wright became an unexpected companion with me on this year's leave.

One of the most powerful stories is about his designing The Imperial Hotel in Tokyo and how it survived two earthquakes. Louis Sullivan, one of Wright's earliest employers in Chicago, commented on his work, "This man...began his solution with the fixed fact of earthquakes as a basis and made an emotional study of their nature and movements." Sullivan continued "The second move was...to devise a system of construction such as should absorb and dispose of the powerful shocks, waves and violent tremors, and yet maintain its integrity as a fabricated structure."

Klinkowitz summarizes, "The Imperial survives not because it is stronger than an earthquake but because the earthquake's nature is built into its design."

I am returning in time for Election Day, Tuesday, November 5. Earthquakes, shocks, waves, and violent tremors are apt descriptions of the political campaigning we have endured these last several months. The vile, racist, and menacing rhetoric about immigrants that has incited threats and violence against immigrant communities is one example of the tremors that are designed to divide us and reverberate throughout our shared political life. These threats and effects seem to be built into the design of our political system and clearly harm the integrity of our community relationships.

But you know what else is built into our design? Being created in the image of God. We have clear and intimate access to God's love and justice in Jesus Christ. You know what else we can claim? The divine energy affirmed in our baptism vows to "renounce the spiritual forces of wickedness, reject the evil powers of this world" and "resist evil, injustice, and oppression in whatever forms they present themselves."

We are this very human-divine creation full of grace and sin; blessed and burdened with loving God, our neighbors, and ourselves. We are preparing to celebrate Christ's birth again this year. An affirmation of faith that God joins this human-divine life with us in person to show us the ways that make for peace. And his mother Mary reminds us of the tremors that come to those who seek to consolidate power and control the lives of citizens and neighbors:

He has brought down the powerful from their thrones and lifted up the lowly; he has filled the hungry with good things and sent the rich away empty (Luke 1:52-53).

I don't know what the coming months will hold for us as a nation, community, or Church. But I know that renewing the built-in features of our humanity that God provides will give us the strength we need to keep building a loving community for people to experience God's redeeming love.

Peace, Pastor Jeff

The mission of The United Methodist Church follows the Great Commission from Jesus to make disciples of Jesus Christ for the transformation of the world. Relationships usually do not mature in a moment, but are nurtured and grown through the years. At this point in my life I am grateful for disciple-making that happens over time.

United Methodist Student Day

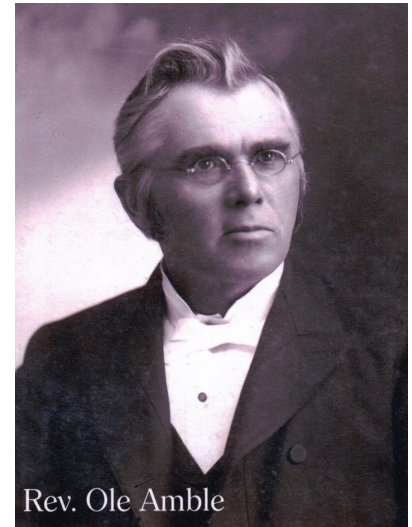

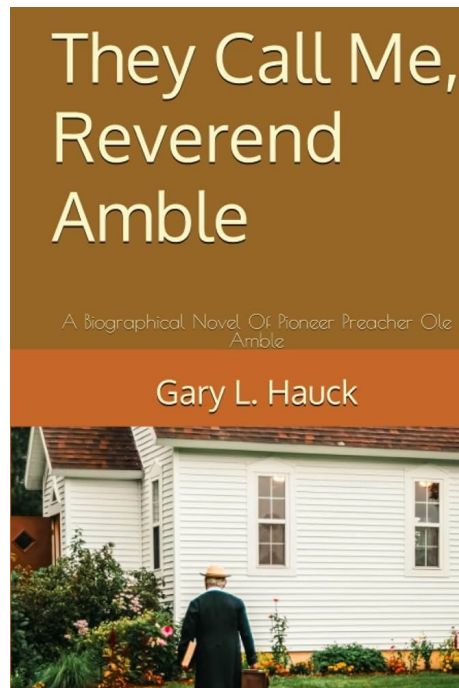

An offering is taken on a Special Sunday, November 24th, to support and advance the education of our children.

► One-hundred percent of the funds collected on United Methodist Student Day are used to fund over 70 scholarships. The scholarship program awards members of the church who are pursuing higher education, from incoming college freshmen through doctoral level students. With the general online application, a student may be considered for any of the scholarship programs. Learn more about how to apply or donate to the scholarships here.

Together, we can achieve much more than we could alone. Your generosity shows the church's confidence in our students and their ability to share the love of Jesus Christ as the next generation of leaders.

From 1874-1927, Rev. Ole Amble ministered to seven churches in Montcalm County, including Settlement Church (north of Gowen), the South Sidney Church, pictured below on the occasion of its 50th anniversary, and the Amble Church in Amble, MI, a village now named for the good Reverend. This is local history, fun and interesting to read, written by local author Gary L. Hauck, who is shown below beside Rev. Amble's Tomb (left), and in costume in the role of Rev. Amble (right). This book is available now in the Church Library for your reading enjoyment.

CRAFTERS

Hello Church Family!

We hope you enjoyed and learned from the Stephen Ministry Sunday Service we put together. We also got some good questions and feedback from the program about Stephen Ministry that Virginia Curtis presented at the Women of Faith Meeting. We hope you will agree that this ministry is very important in our church, and perhaps you will be called to join us. We would love to hold a new class that consists of 50 hours of learning and fun to be commissioned as a Stephen Minister. There is a charge but the church can cover part of it or all of it, if there is a need. If you would like to take this class, have questions about it, or would like to have a Stephen Minister yourself, please contact the church office, Pastor Jeff, Tammy Youmans, Virginia Curtis, or Barb Perry.

Have a Blessed Thanksgiving and Merry Christmas!

Barb Perry

Too often we underestimate the power of a touch, a smile, a kind word, a listening ear, an honest compliment, or the smallest act of caring, all of which have the potential to turn a life around.

POSITIVE OUTLOOKS

Blue Christmas Sunday December 15 5:00pm

We gather as those who grieve and those being prepared to comfort those who grieve. Not all of us experience joy in the Advent/Christmas season. Many of us find grief, depression, sadness, and loneliness. The reality of grief and loss may be our primary condition during this time. Thankfully, there is room for us in the shared life of worship and in the heart of God. We are here to praise the God who grieves and accepts tears and sadness as gifts in a life of faith and love.

Words of Appreciation and Thanks

FUMC Family,

Thank you for your kindness and generosity during a very hard time in our lives this year. Losing a loved one, a mom and wife, is never easy, but the care shown to us during that time was so thoughtful and appreciated. I can not fully express our gratitude for the meals and prayers during that time and how those blessings have continued with us. Serving dishes have been returned to the church kitchen. Thank you for everything!
