God's Plan For Family

Matthew 7:1-12 was absolutely meant to be read, heard, and received in one setting, but we often isolate these teachings apart from one another. Notice the family terms Jesus uses; Brother, Father, Children, and even the pets are included. These teachings of Jesus, illustrate the inner texture of Kingdom life with family. Without them, the rest of the Sermon would never do as a plan for building the 'house' of one's life upon the rock, God's wise plan for life. (See Mt. 7:24-27)

His plan is to live the kingdom attitude of agape love, in all areas of our lives. That plan is best practiced in the context of family, where you build your house. Practicing the practical real-world truth of God's agape love with our family members builds the very character of who you are in how you will engage others. As you love the Lord your God with everything you are, you are called to love your neighbor as yourself. That is, the neighbor you see wiping the sleep away from their eyes at the breakfast table, and the neighbor you say a prayer over as you tuck them in for the night. God's plan for family is to be the place where kingdom living is real and now. Love your family, as yourself.
