*There's a Fountain Free
Because He Lives*

An individual doesn't get cancer, a family does."

Terry Tempest Williams

"Peace I leave with you; my peace I give you."-Jesus John 14:27

In the past fifteen months I have witnessed so many that loved Teresa grieve. As family, I consider anyone that loved her my family, we are able to relate that grief to each other in ways no one outside that family circle can.

Why? Because we all have different histories with her and different ways of grieving. Some have known her their whole life. While others have known her for a shorter period.

The strong impact that she made on our lives is the blessing that we share together.

Seeing that others are grieving along with me helps comfort me because I know that I am not alone on this journey. A short text. A short reply. A short prayer. These are all blessings of comfort from God through you.

It lets me know that I am loved as well. Thank you all for being on this journey with me. God made us for community. I don't know how those who don't have it get through this pain.

I also realize that all of you are also grieving losses of others that you love deeply. My heart hurts with you.

Every day I ask God to fill my heart to the point where it overflows with peace and comfort. He always does.

I say as Paul did in 2 Thessalonians 2:16, " May the Lord of peace himself give you all peace at all times and in every way. The Lord be with all of you."

~ Rick Hatcher
