

MARCH 2025

Many, O Lord, my God, are thy wonderful works which thou hast done... they are more than can be numbered. Psalm 40:5

Now that Tom has seen the surgeon that did his pacemaker implant surgery, we wanted to give you a quick update. Everything went really well, and Tom is showing signs of improvement in everyday activities. The thing I noticed when I first saw him after the surgery was how so much color had returned to his face. I hadn't actually realized how pale he had become. The doctor says it is a process, but we have already seen renewed energy and spirit. Thank you so much for your prayers. Tom, as always, loved the opportunity to give the gospel to everyone he met during this experience. Pray that there will be some that would trust Christ as their Savior as a result of his witness.

Benoni had a very well-attended leadership conference this past weekend, and leaders from surrounding like-minded churches were also in attendance. The theme was "The Ministry Marathon," and the topics included Starting Well, Running Well, and Ending Well. We are encouraged that the Benoni church is not only ministering to their congregation in this way but also to these other churches.

Please also be praying for the upcoming Candidate Orientation for Biblical Ministries South Africa. It's the first one being held by this new organization, and there are current missionaries as well as many prospective missionaries attending. Pray for the equipping and training of the new missionaries and that the Lord would raise up more missionaries here in South Africa to go out and further the gospel!

Once again, we thank you for your faithful prayers and support. We thank God for you daily as you are such an encouragement to us. ~Tom and Marilyn Wilson
