

Gods stories

This fall it has been just me and God doing the property care for YWAM Wylie. But every so often I have a friend who has free time to help. Ellie joined me to remulch the front of the pregnancy resource center and so did little Greyson! Jared also came along for a ride one day.

GOSPEL

Every time we get a new school of DTS students I first teach them about God's heart for sharing the gospel and loving the people we meet before we go out to put those things into practice. Every time I rewrite it and touch up my last notes because God has something different He wants to highlight for each group. The second week we went out a student and I met a girl working at a store who had never heard the gospel and that night she said yes to Jesus!

The current students who are here will be going to Uganda for their outreach and I am so excited for all the lives they will impact there because I have seen their growth in sharing the gospel and I know God will use them in amazing ways!

LORDSHIP

PEACE

JOY

Every October the city of Wylie has an event called Boo on Ballard. Every business and church sets up booths to pass out candy. We set up a table at our coffee shop that is in downtown Wylie and had the doors to our shop open as well. Next to our table we had a large white board with the words "What is your biggest fear?" written on it. Many people came up to write their fears whether funny or serious. This opened conversation for us to talk to some of those people about how we don't need to fear anything at all because God is greater and He loves and comforts us when we intimately know Him.

Two teenage boys that night said yes to having a relationship with Jesus after I had a conversation with them about the heart of God and the truth of who Jesus is! Two other people that night that our students talked to also said they wanted Jesus.

Our town recently built a pickleball court at a near by community park! Which means a few friends and I have played against other people in our community. Those 3 years of tennis in high school really came in handy for this.

Over the last 3 months I have been working in the kitchen of our YWAM base 4 days out of the week. I get to work with a different friend of mine each day. When we cook we are cooking for about 40 people. 20 some staff and 15 students that are either in our Discipleship training school or bible school for the nations. I absolutely love to cook and am so thankful for the opportunity to make new foods I've never made before as well as getting to serve all the staff and students that I live with in YWAM. Throughout this time God has given me His heart for hospitality and cooking a meal for others. I hope and pray that wherever God takes me with Him around the world that I will be able to have people over to my home and talk about God over a shared meal.

On Friday afternoons I get to cook dinner with my friend Bekkley and 2 of our Discipleship training school students. The handle of our grill broke off and so we did whatever it took to keep those marinated chicken breasts dry from the rain that came all of a sudden!

All that we have is from God, and food is a wonderful example to show people His heart for taking care of them and blessing us with good harvest.

Thank you so much for being a part of all of this through your prayers. I couldn't be in Texas partnering with God if it wasn't for all of you who support me as God has led you to do so. God bless you all and I pray that above all else you grow in knowing God more and in so fall more in love with Him.

Know God  Love God

A peak into December!

God is doing amazing things at our local high school! Every week I get to disciple high school students and encourage them as they lead bible studies for their classmates and friends. We had a rally this past week in one of the gyms. At the rally we had a game, worship, bible reading, and a call to follow Jesus. In all honesty a majority of the kids did not care about the game or food which was provided, they wanted Jesus. Some young boys asked me when the Christian stuff was going to happen and when I responded that it might be another 15 minutes one of the boys looked at His friends and "okay we can wait that long." Those boys later on stood up to proclaim that they were giving their lives to Christ along with other students. 50% of the students took a bible as well! And they really really wanted it!

Thank you very much for reading about what God is doing in Wylie Texas through YWAM Wylie and me. Through your partnership you are a part of it all!
What a beautiful truth it is to be loved by Him.

Love, Kendall
