Clyde's Update

We had a very nice weekend, but it didn't take long for us to be reminded that winter is not finished. The cold north wind was blowing today, and once again we are bundled up. It's February now, and the calendar turns on the wall. The winter is getting shorter, but it is still with us. I am not going to complain. It has been one that we can deal with for sure.

Our good friend, Jon Harmsen, is doing a Sunday morning class on the fundamentals of Christianity- The basics of faith. Questions like; how do I know if I'm saved and how should I consider reading my bible? How often should I pray and what does that look like? I think it could be a great conversation for those who might be interested in that. It will start this coming Sunday morning during the Sunday school hour. That class will be meeting in the fellowship hall for those who are interested. I know Jon well, and he will do an amazing job teaching. If you have questions about it, call the office.

We have all been hearing that the cold and flu season is in full swing around the area. I know how difficult it is to stay healthy during this time of the year. We have to go out and do things, but those viruses are out there waiting for us. Take good care of yourselves. It is just a part of how things go this time of year.

I want to also remind you all that MidWeek is going strong, and you are still invited to join us for those evenings. The meals are great, the fellowship is hard to beat, and then on top of all of that, you can get involved with a number of great classes that we are teaching. It is good stuff that goes on there friends. We would love to see you there!

This is also a good time of the year to check out our library. As I have said many times, those gals take such good care of that ministry and do an outstanding job of keeping current items in there for some good reading. They always try to find things that go along with the various studies and the different sermon series. Check it out!

Sunday's message will be about the kingdom of the world. We are going to ask some probing questions about this place that we live. Why is that "kingdom" so influential in our lives? Why can it sometimes get so out of hand? Why are we so easily drawn to that one and yet find the Kingdom of Heaven challenging to find? The kingdom of the world is where we live. It appeals to us in many ways and not all of that is bad, but as I have been saying, it can take us to places we don't want to be. It can control us in ways that can lead us down roads that are destructive. It can be a subtle enemy to families. It can be a friend, and then in the next moment an enemy. I don't want to scare you off with this kind of thinking, but I do want us to understand what we are fighting so very often in our everyday lives. We'll talk more on Sunday. Have a great week!

"Lord, teach us to pray". Luke 11:1

ADULT DISCIPLESHIP & WORSHIP

Don't forget that Jon Harmsen's new adult Sunday School class is kicking off this Sunday, February 9 at 10:10 in the fellowship hall. This class is open to any adult and will focus on the foundations and basics of Christian faith. If you're interested, just head to the fellowship hall on Sunday morning during the 10:00 hour!

I've been noticing several adults popping around to different Mid-Week classes each week this semester, and I love that! I just want to remind everyone that it's perfectly acceptable to try a different class each week and see if there's one that is a good fit for you. And as a reminder, here is a short list of all the classes and where they meet on Wednesday nights. Keep in mind that it's really never too late to give Mid-Week a try.

Pastor Clyde teaches in the fellowship hall, and his class is tagging along with his sermon series about The Kingdom on earth. He is using Dallas Willard's book, The Scandal of the Kingdom as a guide for the discussions.

Pastor John teaches in the office area, and his classes is The Wired Word, which focuses on current events and looks at them through the lens of Scripture.

Susan Bierwagen teaches in Pastor Clyde's office, and her class is a Max Lucado video series titled The God of Those Who Suffer.

John Blok teaches in a classroom in the children's wing, and his class is Men's Life. They focus on issues relevant to men who want to grow in their relationships with God to become Godly men in whatever their life settings might be.

Grace Collins teaches in The Corner, and her class is The Flower Patch, which focuses on life issues for women and how God meets them in any and every situation.

Dan Goeller teaches in The Sanctuary, and his class is Life in Babylon, which focuses on how to live in the world while not being of the world.

And lastly, I teach in the chapel, and my class is going through the book Celebration of the Disciplines where we learn more about different spiritual practices to grow in our relationship with God. Prayer, fasting, service, worship, are just a few of the many we will be discussing.

As you can see, we have many classes to choose from, and everyone is welcome. Supper is served on Wednesday nights from 5:30-6:20, and we have something for every age group from 6:30-7:30. I hope you'll join us!

Have a great week!

Hi Everyone!

I was writing some lessons this week and went to the church library. It is such a gift to have that resource right down the hall! I ran across a book that I hadn't seen before and wanted to encourage parents of elementary kids to read it with your kids. It is called, Home is Right Where You are: Inspired by Psalm 23. It is beautiful and would be such a peaceful bedtime story. If you are looking for a gift for a little one, this would be a good option. To be honest, I enjoyed it even as a grownup. 😊

For VBS this summer, we'll spend a little time talking about the Good Shepherd. Reading the Psalms this week as I start to prepare VBS lessons reminded me of the truth held in those pages. I'd love to invite you to join me in reading the Psalms. As the winter starts to get a little long, I think there is hope and joy to be found in the Psalms.

I also wanted to give you all a quick note about camp. Registration is open for summer camp. Many of our students attend Inspiration Hills Camp each summer. The Inspiration Hills theme of 2025 is Hebrews 13:8. Inspiration Hills does offer bussing from Sioux Falls neighborhoods and there are often other kids from Community going that you can carpool with as well. www.inspirationhills.org. There are day camp and overnight camp options. Again this year, Community will fund half of the "early bird- before April 15" camp fee for kids who want to go to camp. When you go to sign up, there is an option to indicate the amount church will pay. For example: Discovery Camp is $245. Community will cover $122.50 of that cost. If paying for the remaining $122.50 isn't possible for your family but you'd like to send them to camp, just send me an email and we can arrange a scholarship option. We want every child who would enjoy camp to have the opportunity to explore their faith in this new way. (Just don't pick the week of July 21 for camp, because that's our Vacation Bible School week! 😊)

See you soon!
