When I didn't accept Jesus as my Saviour yet, I really didn't think or care about my sin too much. I didn't think alot about what Christ has done for me or didn't really think about that He gave me the things that I enjoy. One day while I was 10, I truly accepted Jesus as my Saviour. I prayed and asked forgiveness as I know that I'm a sinner. Now God has given me a new heart and I hate my sin. God gave me parents who love the Lord and I'm thankfull for them. That is the reason why I know God, He convicted me so now I want to live for Him.
