

What Happens When You Stumble Into Taliban Territory...

(A true story told by an undercover missionary in a Muslim Country)

A local believer shared this testimony with me.

She and a friend were out sharing the Good News (near the Afghanistan border.) When it was getting dark, a man approached them with concern that it was getting too late for them to be walking out on foot and for them to stay at his house. So, the women agreed to let him host them. (A common thing here.)

When they arrived at his house, there was a curtain all around the front of his home so they couldn't see in. Strange. Once going inside the curtain, they realized why.

Inside the home was a group of around 30 women, all family members, who are not permitted to go outside or see outside. Ever. Their whole life is lived within the curtain.

My friend and her friend were shocked. Once the women took them in, they both began sharing everything they could about Jesus Christ with the women. That's when they saw a room in the house, full of tables stacked with weapons. This house belonged to the Taliban.

A young boy at the house saw what was happening and told the man, their host. In anger, the man came to them and said "We don't normally kill our guests...So you better leave now!"

In a rush, they left but were greatly burdened for the women left behind.

By God's grace, women who had absolutely no chance of ever hearing about Jesus Christ got to hear about Him. So many here never do because access to the Message is limited or restricted. PRAY for the Holy Spirit to prepare this country for a breakthrough work of people coming to Jesus Christ. PRAY that He may give boldness to believers to fulfill the great commission task and protect them as they go. May our PRAYING empower the movement of the Holy Spirit to push forward the plans of GOD in the task remaining.
