BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE

Over the past four years I have had the privilege of speaking at the funerals of my father, my sister-in-law, my mother and my mother-in-law. Speaking at the funeral of a loved one is both heartbreaking and a joy at the same time. I have found it to be great grief therapy. While working through the pain of losing someone close to me I get to spend the time dwelling on the memories that brought joy to my life. Then I get the opportunity to stand before others and share those precious memories that made them special.

One of my favorite authors and speakers is Garrison Keillor. He once said, "Isn't it a shame that you live your whole life and then miss your funeral by only a couple of days." What would it do for you if you were able to hear the people you love gather together and share all the great things about your life and how you have touched them and encouraged them? Why do we wait until it is too late?

Therefore encourage one another and build each other up, just as in fact you are doing. Now we ask you, brothers and sisters, to acknowledge those who work hard among you, who care for you in the Lord and who admonish you. Hold them in the highest regard in love because of their work. Live in peace with each other. 1 Thessalonians 5:11-13

We shouldn't wait until it is too late to let others know how special they are. Take the time to reach out to loved ones, friends and even acquaintances and tell them how they have positively affected your life. Not only will it be good for you, it will bring joy and may just extend the life of another.

Phillip
