From Pastor's Pen:

"Therefore brothers, get rid of all moral filth and the evil that is so prevalent and humbly receive the word planted in you, which can save you. Do not merely listen to the word and so deceive yourselves. Do what it says." (James 1:21-22)

Dear Lenten Pilgrims,

A woman in a previous congregation once told me that she took great displeasure in the season of Lent. The songs, the lessons, the stark liturgy, and the constant references to Christ's passion were, in her opinion, depressing. It made her feel bad.

My question is this: Why shouldn't we feel bad, especially in light of our sin and Christ's loving sacrifice?

As a pastor I am often tormented by the incongruity of faith and life among those I have been called to shepherd under Christ. I don't understand how they can claim to love Christ yet despise preaching and His Word. I struggle with those who claim to be religious yet can't keep a tight rein on their tongue. I am burdened by those who claim their bodies to be the temple of the Holy Spirit yet use their bodies to engage in activities, sexual and otherwise, that destroy their fellowship with Him. Yes, I sorrow over my own sins too.

The way in which God's grace is abused by those who use the atoning sacrifice of Christ as a license for sinful living is offensive, and a barrier to the Gospel. The Bible is very clear: "No one who continues to sin has either seen God or known him." (1 Jn. 3:6) So why shouldn't we feel bad about our sin? What is wrong with a season that will bring us closer to Christ's passion and death and renew in us a need for God's forgiveness in Christ?

During this season of Lent we turn to God so that He will continue the work which He began in us through our baptism. In this season we are no longer content with a marginal faith, but seek for ourselves an end to the power of sin, death and the devil in us. We want to grow in the image of Christ.

Yes, Lent is a harsh season, beginning in ashes and the sign of the cross. It is a time for putting to death the old sinful man in us, and for ridding ourselves of all the moral filth and evil that has been so prevalent in our lives.

And yet Lent is also season that brings a deep calmness. It ends at the baptismal font, and the assurance of a new and eternal life. It is a time for humbly receiving the saving Word planted in us by the Holy Spirit.

Lent means no longer just listening to the Word, and deceiving ourselves, but doing what it says. It means living up to what our baptism declares us to be - Christ's holy people and children of God.

So come, let us begin our Lenten pilgrimage together, praying:
Drawn to the cross, which You have blessed
With healing gifts for souls distressed,
To find in you my life, my rest,
Christ crucified, I come. Amen,

In Christ's love,

Pastor Umberger

Notes from the Balcony

As the observance of the Lenten season continues until the end of March, this month's hymn study will continue to focus on Christ's redemptive work for us as accomplished on the cross. See if you can match these three favorite hymns with the correct description.

LSB 539 Christ is the World's Redeemer

LSB 570 Just As I Am

LSB 851 Lord of Glory, You Have Bought Us

1. The writer of this hymn, Eliza S. Alderson (1818-1898), was the granddaughter of a reverend, sister of a reverend, and married to a reverend. She was an English poet and hymn writer. None of her other hymns appear in our hymnal. The first stanza of this hymn addresses our Lord and recalls His redemptive work. It echoes the words of 1 Peter 1:18-19:

"knowing that you were ransomed from the futile ways inherited from your forefathers, not with perishable things such as silver or gold, but with the precious blood of Christ, like that of a lamb without blemish or spot."

In response to God's generous gifts, the remaining three stanzas ask God to change hearts into generous ones that will have faith in God and charity toward others.

2. This hymn was printed in the Invalid's Hymn Book headed with the words of John 6:7, "Him the cometh to Me, I will in no wise cast out." The writer, Charlotte Elliott (1789-1871), lived an invalid's life. Also from a family of English clergymen, young Charlotte lived an early life of ease excelling in painting and writing. Sadly, by the time she was thirty, illness caused her to be bedridden for the rest of her life. In her 32nd year, a Swiss evangelist visited her in her discouragement and advised her to come to Jesus just as she was. This she did. Melancholy over her physical weakness still persisted from time to time. One particularly difficult occasion was the fundraising bazaar for St. Mary's Hall, a school for daughters of the clergy. The whole community, including all of her family, was wrapped up in preparation for and in the event. Charlotte, unable to help or participate from her lonely bedroom, penned the words of this hymn of relationship with the Lamb of God who calls us as we are to cleansing and life with Him.

3. By far the oldest of the three, this hymn is attributed to St. Columba (521-597). He was an Irish abbot and missionary responsible for sharing Christianity with Scotland. Columba founded several monasteries and is one of the patron saints of Ireland. St. Columba's Day is June 9. The first stanza of this hymn attributes to Christ many aspects of His work of love and aid to His people. The second and third stanzas mirror the second article of the Apostle's Creed in several points including His death, descent into hell, resurrection, and ascension. The hymn then concludes with a doxological fourth stanza offering glory and honor to the Trinity. Ephesians 1:7 sums up a main message of Columba's hymn, "In him we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of our trespasses, according to the riches of his grace."

Wishing you a blessed Lent and joyous Easter,
Christine Engebrecht

LWML

Our next LWML meeting will be held on Thursday, March 21st at 1:00 p.m. in the Janssen Rooms. The program will be making Easter treat baskets. Ladies please join us. ### WHAT ARE LWML MITES?

Based on the Biblical account of the widow's mite (Luke 21:1–4), the Mite Box is intended for regular contributions of "mites" — offerings above and beyond the support given to congregations and the LCMS. Mite Box contributions amount to millions of dollars that fund district and national mission grants and implement the LWML program.

Mite Boxes are on the library counter and anyone who would like to contribute to missions may take one. There are also children's ones available too. When boxes are filled you can turn them into the office, bring them to a LWML meeting or give them to an LWML officer; who are Diana Lackey, President; Judy Dugan, Vice President and Margie Schaefer, Treasurer.

Next month in the Informer learn about your local LWML.

Cherish What God Has Given

In the Small Catechism, Luther follows a pattern when explaining the Ten Commandments. With each commandment, there is something prohibited, and something commanded. There is something wrong which must be avoided, and there is something right which must be done.

The one time this pattern is not followed is with the Sixth Commandment.

“You shall not commit adultery. What does this mean? We should fear and love God so that we lead a sexually pure and decent life in what we say and do, and husband and wife love and honor each other” (SC I).

Here, the catechism focuses solely on the positive: we should live in a chaste and decent manner in both word and deed, and husbands and wives should cherish and honor one another.

Keeping this commandment, and all of the commandments, is a lot easier if you see your chastity and your spouse as a gift from God that is to be protected and cherished. In the same way, you will find keeping the Fourth Commandment easier if you see your parents and other authorities as a gift from God, given to you for your blessing.

This is the key stewardship insight that runs through all of the Christian life: Everything that we have has been given to us by God. We deserve none of it. All of it comes to us by God’s fatherly kindness and open-handed generosity. If I know that everything I have — every possession, every relationship, every ability — is a gift from God, then my perspective changes. All of these things are both gifts to be cherished, and things that I should direct towards God’s purposes. My possessions should be shared generously according to how God has called me in my family, church and community. My spouse should be cherished, loved and encouraged in faith. My children are on loan from my own Heavenly Father, and I have but a brief time to show them the path of righteousness. My neighbor is a gift from God so that I can imitate His kindness toward me.

No matter the gift, everything has been given to me by God so that I may participate in His own goodness and open-handed generosity.
