What We Believe

And the angel said to her, “Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God. And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you shall call his name Jesus. He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High. And the Lord God will give to him the throne of his father David, and he will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of his kingdom there will be no end.”

Luke 1:30-33

Now more than ever, the Christmas season can be nothing more than a time of busyness, overspending, overeating, and experiencing many unmet expectations. A great tragedy for many Christians is that all this Christmas “rush” can crowd out the focus on the Savior whose birth we celebrate. So, with all these realities in mind, what can we do to be more intentional as the church, to make Jesus Christ the focus of our celebration? My answer is simply this, at Christmas, we need to consider what it is we believe about the miracle and wonder of Christmas as the Body of Christ.

In December we will spend time each Sunday in a four-week teaching series called “Christmas: What We Believe”. Each week will be a vivid reminder that what the world celebrates at Christmas, compared to the church, is like comparing apples to oranges. Granted, there are some similarities, but as believers, our primary focus is to recognize and celebrate the birth of Jesus into this world. In a secular culture, the focus is often on family, friends, and traditions. At its core, our celebration of Christmas is a celebration of hope. God has come to be with us. Jesus is our Emmanuel.

As we gather as His church, we hear the “whispers” in the Old Testament prophecies of a coming king. In the gospel of Luke, we discover the miraculous birth that brought God to earth. This is the incarnation where God took on flesh and became one of us. His name will be called Jesus and He will be great. Jesus will be a king whose rule will never end.

Long after the Christmas tree is taken down and the decorations are put away, the hope of Christmas in the birth of Jesus is a hope that is still with us, because He is with us. Jesus came not just to be admired as a newborn, but to bring salvation, and save us from our sins.

I encourage you to join us and invite others as we Make Much of Jesus this December at Journey. My prayer is that this teaching series will keep us grounded in what we believe as a church at Christmas. As the secular world seeks to keep our eyes on temporary things, we must be intentional to seek the Savior and celebrate His coming to this world. We are the church, and this is what we believe at Christmas.

God has come to be with us

Christmas Blessings to all!
